KATHERINE WAI
last year my sofa was blue

OPENING SATURDAY 17TH AUGUST 2024

KATHERINE WAI
Edinburgh College of Art
Painting – BA (Hons) 2024

This exhibition is a celebration of the year a blue sofa was finally able to turn pink, thanks to the people Katherine invited and welcomed into her life.

Katherine draws on personal experience and relationships to inform her art. She paints as she feels, and her work is a self-study of emotion and mood. In this exhibition, Katherine has captured the candid moments where others have entered her personal space. Her observations are quietly reflective and allow us some understanding of her external and internal worlds, in relation to others. There is a raw edge to Katherine's work, both literally and metaphorically.

Each piece is contained, resolved and there is no going back.
